In the golden age of radio, after a cast finished a film they would head over to Lux Radio Theatre and perform the same show for radio."It's a Wonderful Life" is the same familiar story, with the same familiar voices. Each cast member does a great job reprising their role, while the music and sound effects recreate the atmosphere of the film. The radio version is abridged, and chimes in at an hour long instead of the hour and a half of the film.If you are going on a long drive this Christmas to visit some friends and family, why not take "It's a Wonderful Life" along with you?

I love xMas music. The more diverse the better. And now that includes radio dramas. It's an hour long and very entertaining. Jimmy and Donna do their best in front of a "live studio audience". Good for car trips or fans of the film.

I love audio books and old time radio and love to listen to them when I am home putting around. It's a wonderful life, original cast.....10 stars in my humble opinion!K Long Great sound quality. I loved the voice acting. It was effortless to imagine the story taking place. The few commercials made this radio play very authentic :)
